Report

Field trips offer free educational resources to everyone. The department of English along with first Degree students visited Nellore local library as a field trip. Visiting the library can encourage reading and exploration in students. They play an important role in English language learning.

The benefits of going as a field trip to the library can be huge! Many students don't even know that a local library exists, by taking them to visit, they can learn all that the library has to offer many summer programs that students of all ages can participate in. After the visit, all of the students and staff members arrived at the college with full of joy and happiness.
