Title of the Best Practice

Energy Conservation

Objective

To instill good habits of energy conservation among students as well as the general public

The Context

The programmes are organised by SVSSC Government Degree College physics students under the supervision of Physics faculty members. The students plan to hold rallies, quiz shows, essay contests, and awareness campaigns based on the government of India's assigned theme. Some energy-saving activities are carried out each year.

The Need

Nowadays, energy conservation is a major concern. Our country is in the process of developing. The use of energy resources has increased all over the world. If this continues for a few more years, all energy sources will be depleted. As a result, we must conserve energy for the future. Everyone should take responsibility for energy-saving methods. To save energy, more CFL bulbs, solar lights, and LED bulbs should be used.

Practice

We began this programme with the belief that educating students in this field would save one generation. We start by educating these students through activities such as slogan writing, group discussions, seminars, debates, and exhibitions. They also helped to educate society by participating in rallies, holding exhibitions, and conducting surveys. Every year in December, we observe Energy Conservation Week.

Evidence of success

As a result, majority of the traditional bulbs and tubes are being replaced in the college by LED bulbs and tubes. Students understand the significance of energy conservation. All of the students attended the exhibitions held at our college and learned the value of energy conservation. The majority of students persuaded their parents to use CFL and LED bulbs. Many students enthusiastically participated in slogan-writing contests and rallies.

Problems Encountered

Because of the semester system, there isn't enough time to organise too many programmes. If we want to hold an exhibition, the students must devote a significant amount of time to preparation.
